

physicalist theories of mind claim that the things on the left explain the things on the right human brain states	explanation goes here, using the thing on the left to explain all the details of the thing on the right	this experience I'm having now bat brain states	explanation goes here, using the thing on the left to explain all the details of the thing on the right	an experience a bat's having now